

SAFESTREETS

Oct. 18, 2017

NowThis Reports covers Everett's lawsuit against big pharma

EVERETT – A Facebook-based news group, NowThis News, recently covered the City of Everett's lawsuit against Purdue Pharmaceutical. In a series of interviews with those who are dealing with the aftermath of addiction, those who are going down a path of recovery, and the local leaders and staff who are on the frontlines of the battle against the opioid epidemic, NowThis captures the “why” behind Everett's lawsuit against Purdue.

“I believe the community is so invested in what we're doing to help the people on the streets and to stand up for ourselves against a big pharmaceutical company [that] really created tremendous damage in this community...they're behind us,” said Mayor Ray Stephanson in the video.

Take a look at how Everett is approaching this issue. Watch the piece on NowThis Reports Facebook page, or their YouTube channel.

Learn more about the Community Streets Initiative or the Everett Safe Streets Plan.

Learn more:

For more information on the Community Streets Initiative, visit www.everettwa.gov/streetsinitiative.

For more information on the Safe Streets Plan, visit www.everettwa.gov/safestreets.

Sign up for email updates at www.everettwa.gov/notifyme.