Friday evening fire damages former machine shop on W. Casino Rd

EVERETT, WA – A commercial building in south Everett was damaged by fire Friday evening. The commercial building was a former machine shop that had been closed. There were no injuries.

Dispatchers received several reports Friday evening just before 7:30 p.m. reporting the fire in the 2100 block of W Casino Rd. Heavy smoke and fire were coming from the building when the first engine arrived.

Firefighters initially worked to extinguish the fire from the exterior and then moved inside the building to fully extinguish the fire. It took approximately 60 minutes to extinguish the fire fully.

Snohomish PUD and Puget Sound Energy secured power and natural gas to the structure. Casino Road was closed for several hours in both directions while firefighters worked to extinguish the blaze.

Crews from South County Fire and Mukilteo Fire provided mutual aid. Approximately 40 firefighters were on the scene at the peak of the fire. Everett Police and the Snohomish County Sheriff's Office assisted with traffic control.

Everett Fire investigators have not yet determined how the fire started. The investigation is ongoing.
